

Good turnout for Bob's inerrancy talk

Nepal November

For two weeks in October and November, Ken Yates was in Nepal. He taught a class to pastors and other church workers there on 1 and 2 Corinthians. The students could all speak English and had many questions, especially as they related to Free Grace issues and the Judgment Seat of Christ.

The majority of people in Nepal are Hindu and these students were all first generation Christians.

Ken was also able to give the students information on how to locate and use Free Grace material on GES's website.

In addition, on October 30, he was asked to preach at a church outside of Kathmandu. The church was damaged in the massive earthquake that hit in April of this year.

Over 9000 people were killed. The church replaced the damaged structure with a tin building. About 50 people attended the service, and the people sat on pillows on the ground. Ken did not know the spiritual condition of the people so he spoke about the freeness of the gospel and the assurance that comes with it from various passages in the Gospels. Ken had a translator as the people did not speak English. The message was very well received and the congregation wanted Ken to return on another visit to their country.

Veritas Evangelical Seminary Annual Conference Santa Ana, CA Nov 6-7

People from Veritas Evangelical Seminary (VES), especially the President, Dr. Joe Holden, liked Bob's May-June magazine article, "Can We Still Trust New Testament Professors?" Thus they asked him to present a message on inerrancy at their annual conference based on that message.

There were over 500 in the audience and they were very enthusiastic about Bob's call to have a high view of the inerrancy of Scripture. One pastor told Bob that his message was very clear and easy to follow. Scores of people came up and spoke with Bob about this issue both on Friday night and all day Saturday.

About 20 people signed up to get our magazine as well.

Church of Hope Laguna Woods, CA Nov 8

Pastor Freddy Cortez, Jr. asked me (Bob) to speak on 1 Pet 2:1-3 ("Desire the Pure Milk of the Word") and to repeat my Friday message from the VES Conference, "Can We Still Trust New Testament Professors." Both went well. I shortened the second message to keep time for questions and we had a great time of interaction.

Logos Mobile Education Course On Free Grace Theology Preparation

Thanks to the efforts of a GES Partner who is an avid user of Logos Bible software, I (Bob) have been asked by Logos to go to Washington State in March to film a course on Free Grace theology. This is quite an honor and a great opportunity to spread the grace message.

NOTES AND LETTERS

"Thanks for your faithfulness in teaching God's truth!"

—MM, Forest, VA

"Please keep up the good work fighting for inerrancy!" —JE, Evansville, IN

I spent a lot of time in November working up manuscripts for ten of the sessions. They want me to prepare about sixty to eighty 5 to 10 minute sessions. I manuscript all my talks in any case. But this is a lot of 500 to 1000 word messages to prepare.

Please pray for my preparation, which will continue in December and January, and for the course filming as well in March. All Logos subscribers will have an opportunity to purchase this course and my hope is that many will.

Special December Gifts Would Help

We typically take in about 25% of our annual revenue in December. Normally the second half of fiscal year is well below budget. So we rely on the Lord and His people for a good December.

We are so thankful this Thanksgiving for your partnership in this ministry.

Updates on Special Publications

We are trying to get several books ready for this year's conference: Tough Texts by Bob and Zane; Acts of the Risen Christ by Zane; Notes on Hebrews by Zane; Chosen to Serve by Shawn; Beyond a Doubt by Shawn; and a short book on inerrancy by Bob.
